Our varsity football team played a very fine and hard fought season.

Touchdown! Spartans on the move

Fairfield's Spartans had another fine football team this year. They played a very hard-fought season. All though they suffered from many losses they are still a great team. We are very proud of our varsity football team.

Despite defeat, the mighty mighty Spartans hustled on. Rain and shine, Spartans had victory on their minds. Mr. Tindall, an outstanding coach, kept the boys on their tip toes, keeping practice a daily thing. Mr. Tindall and the varsity team believe that victory isn't possible for any game without teamwork. They had a very challenging season.

Varsity Schedule

The 8th grade team, under the direction of Mr. Gurnell, tried their hardest to win.

Win or lose, Spartans' journey still soulful . . .

These great Spartan football teams, 7th and 8th, and their coaches Mr. Eldridge and Mr. Gurnell, fought for every point. They suffered with their losses and overflowed with pride at every victory. Their Spartan fans suffered with them when they lost and rejoiced with them when they won.

Both teams performed well and were really great. All of the boys and their coaches are looking forward to a good season next year. They are out to improve and better their past mistakes and we are behind them all the way.

The 7th grade football team was great for their first year. Their coach, Mr. Eldridge, worked many long hours with them.

These boys pictured above worked many long hard hours after school under the patient coaching of Mr. Eldridge.

Mighty Spartans present challenge

We are quite proud of our varsity basketball team. They hustled through the season and showed excellent teamwork during all of the games. Although luck was not always with them, they chalked up many impressive victories.

Leon Turner (54) leaps high for a rebound.

See that basket, see that rim! Come on Pearson put 'er in!

Soulful Spartans produce victories

The reserve and 7th grade teams both did stupendous jobs and led us on to victory many times.

The 7th graders under Mr. Flynn and Mr. Kraay played well and were victorious repetitiously.

The reserve put forth much effort and never failed to present an active picture during the games. They are all ready, willing, and eager for next year's challenge.

Eighth Grade Schedule

Opponent	They	We

Since weather wasn't permitting our track team to practice outside, they perform their daily exercise in the gym. With a lot of hard practice, the Spartans hard work paid off with a callous season. Mr. Gurnell did a wonderful job with the mighty, Spartans.

Run for a Spartan victory!

On your mark, get set, go! Spartans run and keep in shape by making their mark at many track meets. The Spartans knew that spring was here. They got themselves together in any kind of weather. Mr. Gurnell the outstanding coach of varsity track team, sees that our boys get the proper training about track to stay such a great team! Without the cooperation of all the boys, Mr. Gurnell feels it's not possible to produce a team.

Up over, up over! Our track men faithfully keep in shape. Up, Over!

Hut two, three, four. Our track men work hard to stay in shape.

The wrestling team did a fine job under the coaching of Mr. Crumm.

Go to it! We want a victory!

The cross-country and wrestling teams have both done excellent jobs this year. The cross-country team, under the coaching of Mr. Donlan, consists of D. Koon, R. Hollingsworth, P. Moreno, M. Carlson, A. Groff. Not pictured are T. DePew and M. Miller.

Our fabulous wrestlers are D. Casiano, E. Porter, R. Wells, G. Guevara, M. Carlson, R. Light (4th in city), A. Binning, and M. Oberly.

Physical fitness, part of educational voyage . . .

The cross-country team also did outstanding work this year and represented Fairfield quite well. Although this is their first year, they are confident that the coming years will bring a good turn-out in participation.

The varsity cheerleading squad consists of J. Curry, J. Fields, B. Stanley, L. Hollis, B. Johnson, and N. McGraw.

Cheerleaders encourage school spirit . . .

The varsity squad imitates our great team . . .

The 8th graders keep up spirit by cheering at the reserve games. They are B. Jett, E. Hamilton, B. Williams, C. Banks, L. Dillman, and B. Carroll.

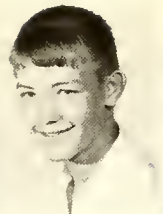

Building school spirit and stressing good sportsmanship are the duties of our cheerleaders.

They built up school spirit by performing at pep sessions, painting posters, and putting on "spirit" skits. Their bright smiles and cherry pep kept spirit high throughout the year.

The 7th grade Social Studies Class learns about Asia.

Students eager to learn of their country

Citizenship and Social Studies classes teach students how to be useful citizens of their community, country, and world. These classes also teach students the cultures of many countries and the history of our country, the United States.

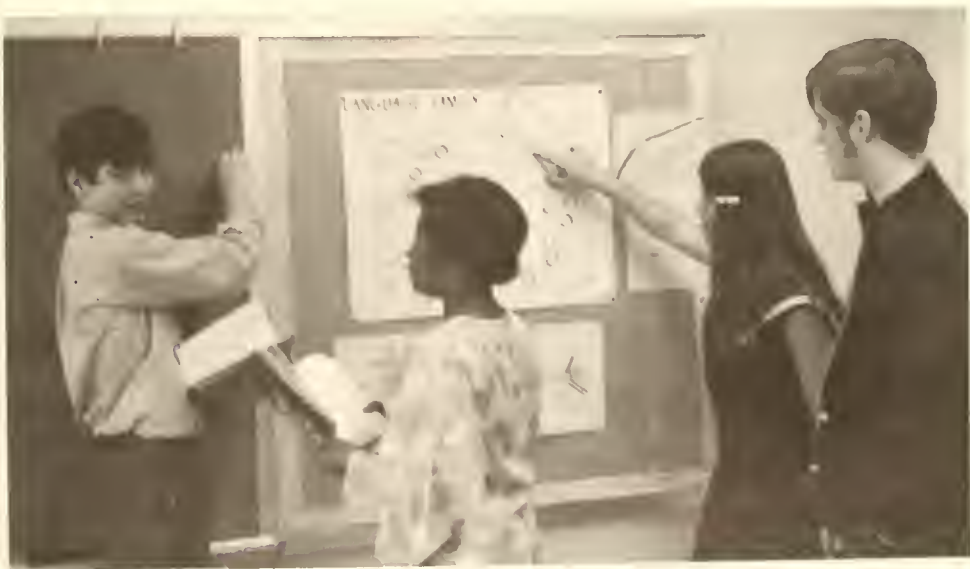

These Citizenship students are learning what it takes to be a good citizen.

Many ninth graders benefit from the study of French.

There are many languages being used today, so the study and mastery of a language is one of the main essentials of life. In the course of study, language students learn not only the language but also about the countries in which the language is spoken and the cultures of their people. During the study of a language students begin to have a better understanding and appreciation of the many countries of the world. At Fairfield there are two languages being offered this year—Latin and French.

Foreign languages teach more than the language

Here ninth graders learn the beauty of Latin.

The 7th grade Spartans enjoying Developmental Reading.

Reading leads to many adventures

The 9th graders explore the world of Romeo and Juliet.

The study of our language and the development of our reading abilities are a very important part of our daily lives. Knowing how to use our language to its greatest advantage is essential if we want to express our individual ideas and opinions. The development of our reading skills opens our eyes to the world of literature and imagination. The ability to read enables us to explore the wonderful world of imagination and adventure, or to escape into the terrifying world of danger, war, and reality.

9th graders expand their knowledge of science in Biology.

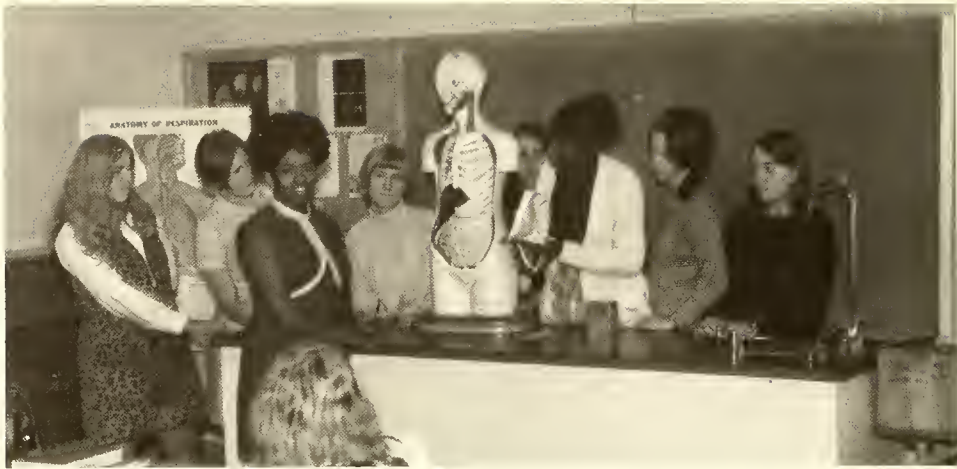

The general confusion of Math continues!

Students voyage through sciences

Exploring the expanding world of Science.

Exploring the ever expanding fields of science and math can be both fun and exciting. Science and math are two areas in which opportunity and knowledge are constantly growing, and expanding. The many problems in science and math are forever challenging the Fairfield Spartans. These classes require much thinking and studying for both students and teachers. Math and science are an important part of the curriculum of all the students at Fairfield.

In Mrs. Stearns health class, students study the construction and proper care of the human body.

Mind and body given chance to excel

Health encompasses many areas of discussion such as studying the body systems, understanding the hazards of alcoholism, narcotics, smoking, and driving. Health students undertake the exploration of these many topics.

Mr. Kraay's special education class is one of two that learns the basics of education.

These boys represent the Letterman's club sponsored by Mr. Eldridge. All boys receiving at least one letter are eligible.

Soulful voyage possible through physical activities

The letterman's club and physical education class are very active. Mr. Eldridge with his letterman's club and Mr. Flynn with his gym class are trying very hard to succeed in everything they do.

This 9th grade gym class tries very hard, under the direction of Mr. Flynn.

The Embroidery Club explores art by using beautiful stitches.

“Sewful” voyage into womanhood

In Home Economics the girls learn skills in sewing and cookery.

In Home Economics the future women of America learn the proper way to carry out household duties. These girls learn to make stylish clothes and household articles. Using embroidery the girls decorate and elaborate on clothes and gifts.

The Industrial Arts class introduces boys to the world of architects and draftsmen. These classes teach the boys the basics of carpentry and metal arts.

These boys work hard at learning the basics in the Industrial Arts class.

Creativeness part of educational journey

Like most talents, a person is not born with them, they have to be developed. In these classes and clubs, teachers and students work together in developing and discovering of student talent. The students start by learning the basics and from there they follow their own intuition, learning and creating as they go. In these classes students can show their originality and imagination, and portray their feelings and ideas.

Art students enjoy learning while they are creating.

Expressing themselves through Creative Art these students portray their talent in this after school activity.

Fairfield's Varsity Band entertains throughout the year under the direction of Mr. Haigh.

Sweet sounds to the ear

The Music Department, under the guidance and direction of Mr. Haigh and Mr. Butts are working and training to produce only the best of sounds for the people and guests of Fairfield.

Fairfield is fortunate to have such a well-rounded music program. Many of our special occasions are brightened by the appearance of the Varsity and Training Band.

In the years to come, our training band will exceed the Varsity Band in promoting school spirit.

Singing their way into our hearts, the Varsity Choir brightens our day.

Our choir and orchestra bring music to all.

The Varsity Choir directed by Mr. Haigh practices Monday, Wednesday, and Friday to practice the many songs that Mr. Haigh picks. The Varsity Choir sings in many concerts for different schools. It takes patience from both students and Mr. Haigh to make their songs perfect.

The training orchestra may not be big, but produces a mighty sound.

These members of the Student Council represent all the students of Fairfield. Co-Sponsors are Mrs. Tharp and Mrs. Stephens.

A voice in our school

Serving on the Student Council provides students with a representative voice in the running of Fairfield Junior High School. The 1969-70 Student Council President is Barbara Stanley, and Vice President is Laurretta Jordan. Sara Grulach serves as secretary.

Speaking Spartan members work toward improving their speaking abilities.

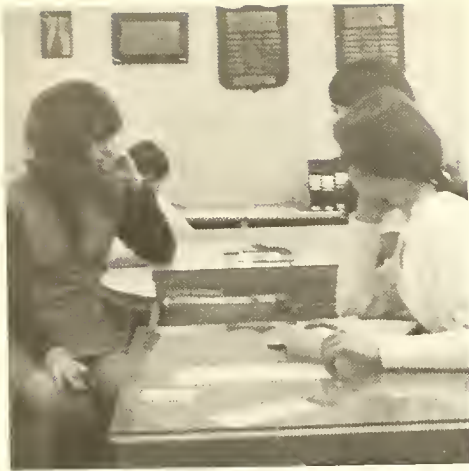

Mrs. Long and Mr. Rodey sponsor the Booster Club which devotes their time to helpful service around the school.

Clubs lead Spartians into land of soul

The Booster Club included among its good deeds, grading papers and selling tickets for basketball games. Did you see that group at all the games cheering the great Spartan team? It was none other than the cheerblock, which was sponsored by Mrs. Kidd.

Members of the cheerblock make plans for the coming game.

Mrs. Elliot helps students find materials to expand their knowledge.

Mrs. Elliot, Mrs. Philbrook, and their student helpers, go about their daily tasks in aiding the students. The student helpers are enjoying their daily jobs by working with life's most educational source, books. In the many years Fairfield's library has increased its sources of material. There are hundreds of new books that have been added to our school library this year.

Library and A.V., domains of educational learnings

The library is a place for all source of learning, even if we're caught.

A.V. members are kept on their toes by Mrs. Stearns. Mrs. Stearns sponsors the A.V. Club. The A.V. men and women go about their daily tasks in delivering the A.V. equipment. Filmstrips, projectors, overheads, and other materials are kept in tip-top shape for the use of the faculty and benefit of the students. With the aid of the A.V. workers and Mrs. Stearns the student body wouldn't be able to expand their knowledge and understanding of many subjects.

These business-minded Spartans are learning the art of typing under the direction of Mr. Flynn.

Fun is part of soul voyage through Fairfield

Extra activities such as the game club and our new Typing Class have fun after and during school hours. Our extracurricular activities are not only educational, but present many hours of fun and enjoyment for our Soulful Spartans.

Sparty's perplexing puzzles present hours of fun.

L. Jordan passes the ball out in a game against Memorial.

All throughout the season, the Spartanettes showed will-power and determination. Not only do they play basketball, but they participate in all sports, while competing with other schools.

Journey into physical fitness

Basketball, hockey, and volleyball, are just a few of the many activities Boys Intramurals participate in. Mr. Gurnell, who is in charge, keeps a close eye on them, to keep things in hand. Popular with all boys of different grades, it keeps it keeps them all physically fit, and mentally happy.

Spartans work hard in many activities in the intramural council.

The newspaper staff uses their journalistic know-how to produce a fine FALCON.

Soul staffs work overtime . . .

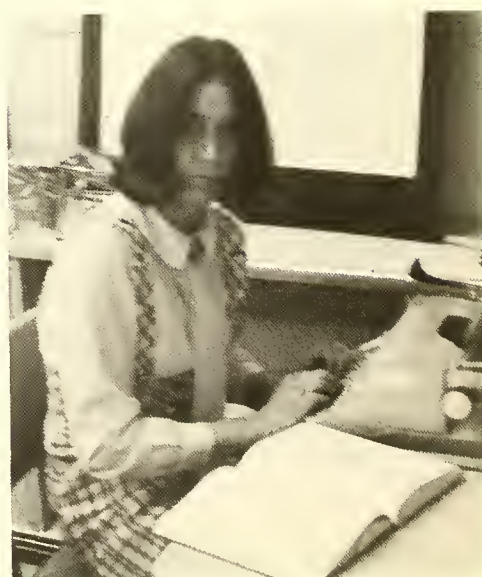

Newspaper and yearbook are the only two publications clubs offered. Both staffs spent many endless hours (even on Saturdays) in getting these publications to you. Each member worked hard while learning responsibility under the sponsorship of Mrs. Moore, faculty advisor.

Our devoted yearbook members work diligently to make memories last through the years.

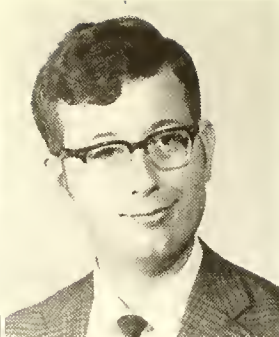

Fairfield's administration is marvelous. True "soul" is radiated throughout Fairfield by this fabulous staff. The administration of Fairfield tries to help the students know themselves—to help them face reality. Mr. Richardson, the principal is the top man. He works along with Mr. Koos, the assistant principal, and Mrs. Tharp, Mrs. Stephens, and Mr. Andrews, our fine guidance counselors, in improving Fairfield and making life much more enjoyable.

The guidance people work faithfully to help students with many problems and by giving them advice. Students are helped with program, class arrangements, and parents conferences. The guidance people are rewarded by the thanks which they receive from the many students. Our guidance people are: P. Tharp, B. Stephens, and L. Andrews.

Here we see Mrs. Tharp diligently working at her desk to establish better relationship between the faculty and students.

Soulful voyage of counselors continue

Mrs. Stephens works hard at a day's work, to promote a better understanding of the faculty.

Our own hard-working Mr. Andrews sits at his desk and daily performs the tasks ahead.

Our principal, hard at work does his best to run the school as smoothly as possible.

Our administration

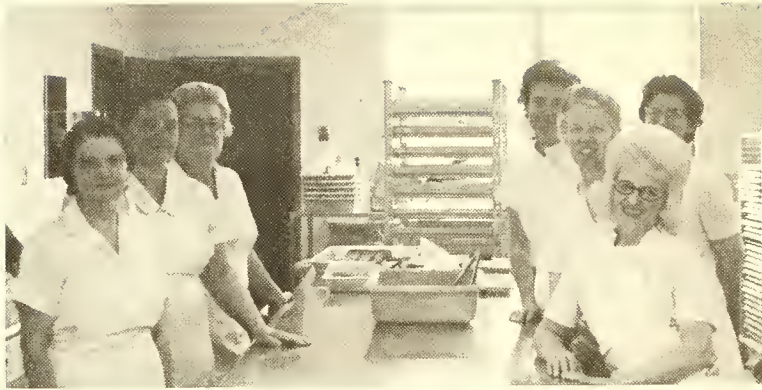

Mr. Koos, the assistant principal, helps many students solve their problems during their years at Fairfield.

Mrs. Harvill and Mrs. Lake are our dutiful secretaries who perform many tasks during the day and throughout the school year.

Our Administration is a hard working nucleus. They are ready, willing, and waiting to help anyone at anytime possible. As they cheerfully wade through piles of paper work they seem very content.

The cooks use teamwork as they wade through "miles of pots and pans" to prepare over a 1,000 meals a day. Besides cooking for our hungry Spartans, they also cook for two elementary schools.

The cooks work diligently as they prepare our meals.

Mrs. Pinkerton serves as our dedicated study hall clerk as well as the dreaded attendance taker.

Mrs. Philbrook spends the majority of her time in the library.

Without the work of our energetic maintenance men and women, FAIRFIELD would literally fall apart. They labor long hard hours to keep our school clean. Through the toil of these competent people we present a neat picture to our visitors.
